Dear Friends

Welcome to our October issue and the return of the sunny weather after the last few wet and chilly months!

Upcoming is the 10th ASFW event; the ever popular and expanding Africa Sourcing and Fashion Week which is always a highly anticipated event. We also profile Zana Landscaping that is commended for creating the tallest vertical garden in East Africa and highlights how greenery is possible to maintain within modern urban structures! Made in Ethiopia is a fascinating documentary filmed over 4 years examining the arrival of a massive Chinese industrial park creating 30,000 jobs following the lives of three women who were hired from the countryside on which the park was built. Did you know that Ethiopia produces its own silk and silk garments? Bere Sericulture in Arba Minch is an up and coming Ethiopian silk company now making their own garments and working with other fashion companies like Sabahar.

Have a good month.

10TH AFRICA SOURCING AND FASHION WEEK

8-11 November 2024, Skylight Hotel

Leading global fashion brands and investors of textile and leather are attending the 10th Africa Sourcing and Fashion Week (ASFW) - Africa's biggest trade show for fashion, textile and leather industries. At this edition, the organizers expect over 7,000 trade buyers / investors from over 60 countries. Global decision-makers will meet with over 300 exhibitors and manufacturers from Africa and abroad to discuss and sign new business deals. ASFW will therefore again expand the leadership within the African continent.

Africa is embarking on a journey in the world of sustainable manufacturing, forging a path that aligns economic growth with environmental stewardship. The continent's textile and garment production is contributing significantly to its economic landscape. Africa has an opportunity to participate and lead the way in sustainable manufacturing. The United Nations Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO) notes a growing commitment to sustainable practices in the leather industry here in Ethiopia.

The global fashion industry reportedly produces about 2.1 billion tons of greenhouse gas emissions annually. Africa's commitment to sustainability can significantly impact these figures. By 2025, the global sustainable fashion market is expected to reach US$9.81 billion, according to Statista. Sustainable manufacturing presents Africa with a chance to redefine its global image and contribute to a more conscious and ethical fashion industry. The African Continental Free Trade Area (AfCFTA) is emerging as a catalyst for change as it creates an expansive market, encouraging intra-African trade. This agreement is a gateway for sustainable products from Africa to reach a broader audience.

ASFW continues to be the heartbeat of Africa's textile and fashion evolution. Celebrating a decade of innovation and progress, ASFW 2024 anticipates the annual convergence of over 7,000 participants ready to make a lasting impact on the African textile and fashion landscape.

THE TALLEST VERTICAL GARDEN IN EAST AFRICA

ZANA Landscaping is leading an extraordinary project for the Kefita Real Estate development. Located in the heart of Addis Ababa, this project aims to change the way we think about sustainable and luxury living in Ethiopia with the tallest vertical garden in East Africa. The Kefita Real Estate development will become a landmark in Addis Ababa, showing how sustainable design can work with luxury living where modern living seamlessly blends with tradition and nature.

This unique green design uses advanced landscaping techniques on the building façade, roof terraces and compound. This creates a unique living experience that respects the environment while offering a high-class lifestyle. Vertical gardens turn the building walls into living, breathing parts of the city's ecosystem. This approach not only looks beautiful but also helps the environment by improving air quality, cooling the area, and insulating the building.

Beyond the stunning vertical garden, their design includes roof terraces and compound, making sure every part of the property is in harmony with nature. The roof terraces are designed as peaceful retreats with lots of greenery, offering residents a quiet escape in the busy city. As a pioneer in full-scale professional landscaping in Ethiopia since 2007 E.C, Zana Landscaping has a goal to always provide clients with the utmost excellence in the areas of sustainable landscape design, horticulture, landscape construction and maintenance, to exceed personal expectations and create beautiful spaces that enhance the quality of living. In addition, one of ZANA's objectives from its inception was to provide training and work opportunities within their company for youth living on the street.

WHEATGRASS: THE NEW SUPERFOOD?

Wheatgrass is the freshly sprouted first leaves of the common wheat plant used as a food, drink, or dietary supplement.

Claims about the health benefits of wheatgrass range from providing supplemental nutrition to having unique curative properties, but these claims have not been scientifically proven.

7 WHEATGRASS BENEFITS

according to 2015 research (www.functionalfoodscenter.net/files/47516971.pdf)

1. It's a Superfood

Wheatgrass is packed with a powerful combination of nutrients that have antioxidant, antibacterial, and anti-inflammatory properties.

2. It can eliminate toxins

The nutrients in wheatgrass aid the body in eliminating impurities and toxins.

3. It can help with digestion

The high levels of enzymes in wheatgrass aid digestion by helping the body to break down food and absorb nutrients.

4. It can lower cholesterol

Wheatgrass can lower cholesterol levels, decreasing the risk of developing heart disease.

5. It can boost the immune system

Wheatgrass enhances the function of the immune system.

6. It can boost energy

Energy levels may be boosted by the nutrients in wheatgrass.

7. It can help with diabetes

Wheatgrass has been shown to improve blood sugar levels in rats with Type II diabetes, in part because wheatgrass has compounds that have a similar effect to insulin.

N.B. Wheatgrass should not be consumed if pregnant or breastfeeding or by those who are allergic to wheat or grass, have a blood disorder celiac disease, or a gluten intolerance.

BURNT EUCALYPTUS WOOD: ON ORIGINS, LANGUAGE AND IDENTITY

Author Ennatu Domingo was adopted from Ethiopia at the age of seven and transplanted to Barcelona where she learned to flourish. But she never forgot her nomadic childhood in the mountains and meadows of Gondar. She holds a BA in Political Science and an MA in International Conflict and Security. She was awarded a Schuman traineeship to work at the European Parliament's Africa, Caribbean and Pacific (ACP) Unit and currently works for the European Centre for Development Policy Management in The Netherlands.

Ennatu's non-fiction debut, Burnt Eucalyptus Wood was published in March 2022 by Editorial Navona in Catalan and Spanish. The book was an instant success across print and broadcast media.

Having witnessed the hardships of Ethiopian rural women at an early age, she was inspired to study the patriarchal structures that underpinned her individual experiences, both in the West and in contemporary Ethiopia. She has lived in Kenya, Belgium and the UK, and has travelled across the five continents, but keeps returning to the country of her childhood, to re-construct a lost identity guided by the echo of her first language Amharic, and the weight of a rich cultural heritage.

Torn between forgetting and remembering, Ennatu explores the dilemma of international adoptees and migrant children and their quest for belonging in a book destined to be a classic of its genre.

HANDMADE ETHIOPIAN SILK FROM ARBA MINCH

Bere Sericulture produces beautiful silk materials and garments for the local and international markets. Bere Sericulture production begins with the cultivation of castor and mulberry plants to rear silkworms by feeding them the plant leaves. The cocoons produced by the silkworms are then processed into silk threads. This process also disseminates the necessary technology and training to the local community of Arba Minch by providing the necessary expertise and employment through training, providing a new plant cultivator, new silkworm seeds and every other aspect of the overall production scheme.

Entrepreneur Geleta Hailu, who founded Bere Sericulture Production Company in 2009, felt there was a niche market to be exploited and started with three hectares of land. The weather in the south is particularly conducive for silkworms to thrive, and Bere remains the foremost silk farm in the country.

In addition to breeding the worms on the company's farm, dozens of farmers are also engaged as out-growers. The farm provides seeds and trains the farmers so that they produce the silk and sell it back to Geleta's farm. After buying the silk thread from Geleta, textile factories either produce 100 percent silk textiles or a fabric mixing the silk with cotton for the export market.

Now, Bere has evolved to produce high-end market garments. Crafted to be luxurious and sustainable, the garments are produced from hand-spun, hand-woven organic silk ensuring organic and sustainable growth and employment. Bere dyes the silk products with natural dyes.

You can find Bere garments at local bazaars (Designer and Artisan bi-annual Bazaar) and directly from their Bole shop.

MADE IN ETHIOPIA: DOCUMENTARY

When a massive Chinese industrial park lands in rural Ethiopia, a dusty farming town finds itself at the new frontier of globalization. The sprawling factory complex's formidable Chinese director, Motto now needs every bit of mettle and charm she can muster to push through a high-stakes expansion that promises 30,000 new jobs. Ethiopian farmer Workinesh and factory worker Beti have staked their futures on the prosperity the park promises. But as initial hope meets painful realities, they find themselves, like their country, at a pivotal crossroads.

Filmed over four years with singular access, Made in Ethiopia lifts the curtain on China's historic but misunderstood impact on Africa, and explores contemporary Ethiopia at a moment of profound crisis. The film throws audiences into two colliding worlds: an industrial juggernaut fueled by profit and progress, and a vanishing countryside where life is still measured by the cycle of the seasons. Its nuance, complexity and multi-perspective approach go beyond black-and-white narratives of victims and villains. As the three women's stories unfold, Made in Ethiopia challenges us to rethink the relationship between tradition and modernity, growth and welfare, the development of a country and the well-being of its people.

KONSO: THE PEOPLE WHO CONQUERED THE MOUNTAINS

OCTOBER 2024

Ethiopia, home to 70% of Africa's mountains, boasts breathtaking peaks and challenging trails for adventurers. However, these majestic landscapes also pose significant challenges for the locals. Farming is hard, with rugged terrain leading to erosion and landslides.

Yet the Konso people of Southern Ethiopia have transformed these obstacles into opportunities. For generations, they have skillfully constructed terraces on the mountains, preventing erosion and maximizing agricultural productivity. This remarkable dedication earned the Konso cultural landscape UNESCO World Heritage Site status in 2011.

The uniqueness of the Konso extends beyond agriculture. They build their villages atop these mountains, encircled by protective walls that safeguard their communities. Central to each settlement is the Mora, a large circular hut where elders gather to discuss important matters. At night, this space becomes a haven for the village youth, who stand guard against potential threats, ready to respond to emergencies like fires.

As these young individuals transition to adulthood, they undergo a rite of passage. Candidates must lift and throw a heavy stone over their shoulder in front of village elders. If unsuccessful, they must wait a year for another attempt.

Lastly, a visit to the Konso region wouldn't be complete without exploring "Gesergio," a village renowned for its stunning natural landscape shaped by erosion. Here, towering soil pinnacles have earned it the nickname "New York," reminiscent of Manhattan's skyscrapers.

Travel to Konso to experience its rich culture, stunning nature, and warm hospitality.

SOLE RELIEF AND RELAXATION: REFLEXOLOGY

Most of us enjoy a massage and they are readily available in one form or another all around town. However, there is a new place in Kazanchis that focuses exclusively on feet!

Wrench Reflexology is a combination of therapeutic reflexology and relaxing massage. Foot reflexology is a therapy based on the application of gentle pressure on reflex points on the soles of the foot which stimulates a natural healing mechanism.

The benefits of reflexology are numerous and include decreasing stress, improving sleep and blood circulation, relaxing the body and mind as well as generally improving your wellbeing

Treatment at Wrench Reflexology takes place in a pleasant green and white room seated on a comfortable chair to the gentle and calming sounds of running water. First, you sit with your feet immersed in warm water with bath salts for a few minutes during which time you are given a short (dry) head and shoulder massage to relax you.

Next, you transfer to sit in a comfortable armchair and your foot treatment begins; you can choose 45 or 60 minutes so an ideal lunch time break if you work in the area. A professionally trained therapist inquires if there are any particular areas of your body that feel stressed or are painful so that, if necessary, specific sole stimulation to address that discomfort can be applied.

Whilst enjoying the treatment, you are treated to a refreshing fresh fruit juice. Additional treatments include addressing migraines; an applied migraine wrap helps to decrease pain and stress. Plus, there is an on-site pedicure and manicure salon.

*Located across from the ECA, down from Ellily Hotel in Kazanchis, LG building.
