Dear Friends

Welcome to the February issue of 2025.

We have another issue filled with interesting and informative articles as usual. Lime Tree (Kazanchis branch) the popular longtime restaurant and cafe has just reopened after undergoing a makeover and it has a new menu; we encourage you to check it out!

Our well-travelled travel writer (and explorer!) Michael Metaferia has written a fascinating article about Elephants in Ethiopia and how individuals who not so long ago once hunted elephants have now been trained and transformed into guardians of the elephants. It is not a widely known fact that elephants now thrive in Ethiopia within this profiled national park.

We also profile talented musician Gigi whose music features in a recent Hollywood film and we highlight the film The Cursed Spears which won Best Documentary at the recent Ethiopian Film Festival.

Have a great month ahead and enjoy the sunshine!

SHEPHERDS OF THE ELEPHANTS

Like all national parks in Ethiopia, Chebera Churchura National Park has wildlife rangers responsible for monitoring animals and their habitats. These rangers also guide visitors, ensuring safety for both people and wildlife.

What distinguishes the rangers of Chebera is their title as "shepherds of the elephants." Before 2005, the park was a hunting ground where poachers decimated the elephant population. Following the establishment of the national park in 2005 to combat this decline, local hunters were surprisingly recruited as guardians of the elephants they once hunted. This transformation challenges the notion of "the ox befriending the butcher," revealing a genuine commitment to conservation.

These former hunters have become dedicated protectors, viewing the elephants with the same care a mother gives her child. Rather than harming the animals, they are prepared to sacrifice themselves for their safety. Due to limited vehicles and personnel, the rangers patrol the jungle like shepherds, monitoring herds 24/7. Each herd is tracked by two rangers who adapt their movements to the elephants', living in the jungle for a month at a time. Monthly rotations ensure continuous protection against poachers.

However, the rangers face a critical shortage of essentials like uniforms and equipment. Despite their dedication to protecting the elephants, many are forced to seek other jobs for survival.

To address these challenges, stakeholders such as the Ethiopian Wildlife Conservation Authority and the Ministry of Tourism must step up to support both the sustainability of the park and the rangers' vital work.

Chebera Churchura National Park is located in Southwestern Ethiopia, Dawro Zone, Konta Woreda.

HATA TUKE: A TRADITIONAL ETHIOPIAN BEVERAGE WITH MEDICINAL BENEFITS

Hata Tuke is a unique and traditional beverage made from the yellow leaves of the coffee plant. This distinctive drink is widely popular among the southern Ethiopian communities, particularly in the Wolayita and Sidama regions. Unlike the typical coffee brewed from coffee beans, Hata Tuke is prepared using a mix of green and yellow leaves of the coffee plant, giving it a mild, earthy flavor.

This beverage is cherished not only for its taste but also for its medicinal properties. The people of these regions have used Hata Tuke for generations as a natural remedy for various ailments. What makes this drink special is the combination of ingredients added to enhance its health benefits. These ingredients include coffee leaves, rosemary, coriander leaves, basil, ginger, garlic, wine grass, and salt. Each ingredient plays a unique role, adding both flavor and medicinal qualities to the beverage.

Rosemary is known for its anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties, while coriander leaves aid digestion and provide essential vitamins. Basil offers antibacterial benefits, and ginger is widely recognized for its ability to ease nausea and inflammation. Garlic, rich in compounds like allicin, helps boost the immune system, and wine grass adds a refreshing taste, balancing the mixture. The addition of salt further enhances the flavor while helping to restore electrolytes.

Hata Tuke is not just a local drink; it is a beverage deeply rooted in the culture and traditions of southern Ethiopia. Whether consumed for its refreshing taste or its medicinal benefits, it remains an important part of the region's heritage, continuing to be passed down through generations.

WHY SYMMETRY FEELS LIKE HOME IN DESIGN

Why do we prefer symmetry in design? There's something undeniably comforting about it. Symmetry gives us a sense of order, calm, and completion—like reaching the end of a beautiful song that leaves you feeling wistful yet resolved. It's that perfect harmony, the satisfying click of a puzzle piece finding its place.

While asymmetry has its charm—dynamic, unpredictable, and close to the reality of life—symmetry speaks to something deep within us. It's one of architecture's oldest and most loved principles, reflecting balance and control. Across cultures and artistic movements, symmetrical design has always been a favorite. Why? Because it feels just right. It's like the universe winking at us, saying, "See? Everything is in its place."

The National Palace (ብሔራዊ ቤተ መንግሥት) in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, is a real show-off when it comes to symmetry. Its perfectly aligned windows, arches, and columns create a sense of balance, as if the building itself is in perfect harmony. The central part steals the spotlight, while the wings, with symmetrical designs on each side, make the whole structure feel unified and elegant, showcasing a perfect sense of order.

In 2025, as trends evolve toward bold and experimental, symmetry continues to ground us. It's a reassuring constant, giving us spaces that feel peaceful, balanced, and resolved. From futuristic skyscrapers to historic landmarks, symmetrical design bridges the past and the present, making it as relevant today as ever. What makes symmetry captivating to you, even in 2025?

ZUCCHINI AND SPINACH BITES WITH FETA

INGREDIENTS

- 2 medium zucchinis, grated
- 1 ½ cups spinach, finely chopped
- ½ cup feta cheese, crumbled
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- ½ cup breadcrumbs (plain or panko)
- 1 egg (for binding)
- ½ tsp dried oregano
- ¼ tsp salt
- ¼ tsp black pepper
- 2 tbsp olive oil (for frying or brushing, optional if baking)

PREPARATION

Step 1: Prepare the Zucchini

1. Grate the zucchinis using a box grater.
2. Place the grated zucchini in a clean kitchen towel or cheesecloth and squeeze out as much water as possible. Removing excess moisture is essential for crispy bites.
3. Set the zucchini aside.

Step 2: Mix the Ingredients

1. In a large mixing bowl, combine the grated zucchini, chopped spinach, crumbled feta, garlic, breadcrumbs, egg, oregano, salt, and pepper.
2. Mix well until all ingredients are evenly incorporated. The mixture should hold together when squeezed. If it feels too wet, add more breadcrumbs.

Step 3: Shape the Bites

1. Scoop about 1-2 tablespoons of the mixture and shape it into small, round balls or patties.
2. Place the shaped bites on a plate or tray.

Step 4: Cook the Zucchini and Spinach Bites

Option 1: Baking

1. Preheat the oven to 375°F (190°C).
2. Line a baking sheet with parchment paper and lightly brush with olive oil.
3. Arrange the bites on the baking sheet and brush the tops with a little olive oil.
4. Bake for 20-25 minutes, flipping halfway through, until golden brown and crisp.

Option 2: Frying

1. Heat 2 tablespoons of olive oil in a skillet over medium heat.
2. Add the bites in batches, being careful not to overcrowd the pan.
3. Cook for 3-4 minutes on each side until golden and crispy.
4. Transfer to a paper towel-lined plate to drain excess oil.

GIGI FEATURES ON GLADIATOR 2 SOUNDTRACK

Ejgayehu Shibabaw, known by her stage name Gigi, is one of the most successful contemporary Ethiopian singers worldwide. She has brought the music of Ethiopia to wider recognition and developed it in combination with a wide variety of other genres.

Recently, she featured as one of the vocalists on the newly released Gladiator 2 soundtrack. Celebrated for her groundbreaking fusion of traditional Ethiopian music, Gigi brings a unique dimension to the soundtrack.

Gigi was born and raised in Chagni in northwestern Ethiopia. She has described learning traditional songs from an Ethiopian Orthodox priest in the family home. She moved to San Francisco around 1998 and it was her 2001 album, titled simply 'Gigi', that brought her widespread attention, showcasing her collaboration with jazz legends Herbie Hancock and Wayne Shorter. Her 2001 song 'Guramayle' featured in the 2006 documentary 'God Grew Tired of Us'.

2003 saw the release of 'Zion Roots', under the band name Abyssinia Infinite on which several of Gigi's family members contributed vocals. The album incorporated instruments such as the krar and the tabla. The track 'Gole' is sung in Agaw, the language of Gigi's father's village.

Her career has been marked by notable projects cementing her status as a global ambassador for Ethiopian music. Gigi is married to her producer Bill Laswell, and they have a son, Aman, who often accompanies his parents with vocals.

THE CURSED SPEARS: BEST DOCUMENTARY FILM AT 19TH ETHIOPIAN FILM FESTIVAL

Congratulations to The Cursed Spears for winning the Best Documentary Award at the 19th Ethiopian International Film Festival! This recognition highlights the film's powerful portrayal of the Peace Ceremony in Arbore.

This film by Alula Pankhurst and Solomon Girma is about a peace ceremony held in Southern Ethiopia in 1993 and how it has become relevant in the current context of the transition from war to peace in Ethiopia.

This summary is based on initial footage Alula Pankhurst filmed at the time, and from the film Bury the Spear produced by Ivo Strecker and Alula Pankhurst in 2003 featuring discussions between Ivo and Grazmach Sura the initiator of the peace ceremony who made a worldwide appeal for peace. The video also draws on a more recent visit of Ivo and Alula to Arbore in 2019 filmed by Tesfahun Haddis talking to Hora Sura the son of Grazmach Sura who played a key role in the peace ceremony.

The Ethiopian International Film Festival (EIFF) is an Ethiopian film festival that began in 2005 and is held annually in Addis Ababa, aimed at the Ethiopian and African film industry. The festival includes screenings of 100 features, shorts, fiction, documentaries, animation, experimental, classics and contemporary films. All screenings are shown in public spaces and filmmakers introduce their work and organize workshops and seminars in practice or theory.

Best films of the year have 10 categories and the nominees are presented in the opening ceremony, with winners announced in the closing ceremony. The EIFF is considered the equivalent version of the American Academy Awards.

ADDIS JAZZ FESTIVAL 2025

“A multi-dimensional experience that combines live music, visual arts, and local cultural markets.”

The highly anticipated Addis Jazz Festival 2025 will take place from 7–9 February in Addis Ababa at the Residence of the Ambassador of Sweden to Ethiopia, a centrally located venue with an outdoor garden, offering the perfect setting for this dynamic cultural celebration.

This year’s edition promises to be an unforgettable celebration of Ethiopia’s unique Ethio-jazz legacy, while embracing diverse musical genres and fostering cross-cultural exchange.

Presented by Muzikawi and Selam Ethiopia, the festival will feature an impressive lineup of local and international artists, workshops, panel discussions, and cultural activities.

This year’s lineup will include performances from Kuku Sebsibe, Fikreaddis Nekatibeb and Ethiopian legends such as Dawit Yifru and Roha Band alongside international talents such as Stewart Sukuma & Banda Nkhuvu (Mozambique), Mapei (Sweden), and Winyo (Kenya), as well as jazz icons from the Addis Ababa jazz scene like Kayn Lab, Samuel Yirga, HaddinQo and Bereket Abebe.

The festival will also feature Jemberu, a prodigy artist known for a groundbreaking fusion of Ethio-Jazz and hip-hop, and the Tigray Cultural Group made up of musicians, dancers, and singers which has been focused on preserving culture since the 1960s and was revitalized in 2012.

The festival organizers Muzikawi and Selam Ethiopia are instrumental in shaping Ethiopia’s vibrant cultural and musical landscape. Muzikawi is a music label and event promoter focused on preserving and promoting Ethiopia’s rich musical heritage, while Selam Ethiopia is a leading NGO dedicated to advancing the rights of artists and fostering the growth of Ethiopia’s creative industries. Through their collaboration, the organizations aim to provide platforms for emerging talents and build lasting cultural connections.
